

International series of conferences on Operational Research Practice in Africa (ORPA)

Institute for Operations Research and the Management Sciences

International Federation of Operational Research Societies

First ORPA conference, 7-8 April 2005, Ouagadougou, Burkina Faso

A Unique Forum for a Unique Continent with Unique Challenges and Unique Opportunities

DESCRIPTION

ORPA is the Premier Conference series on OR Practice in Africa. The aim of ORPA-1 (the first in the series) is to raise awareness of OR in industry across the African continent.

African populations live in very poor conditions characterised by inefficient management of scarce resources (water, food crops, electricity, pharmaceutical drugs, etc.). We believe that OR has a key role to play in the development of Africa. This is a view also shared by IFORS, EURO and INFORMS whom we have been working with in recent years. We guarantee that no where else in Africa will you find such a large concentration of top decision makers and top scientists brought together in one place for 2 days that promise to be very enriching!

WHO SHOULD ATTEND

Decision makers (government ministers, directors, managers, military operations strategists and other executives): who need to understand how and when analytical approaches are useful; Senior Technical Advisors: who advise top executives on matters related to the economy, sales, marketing, finance, etc.; Industrial Consultants: who advise businesses on their operations; Analysts: who use quantitative methods in their work; Engineering students: who are taking a course in OR; OR Practitioners; OR Academics; People who are interested in mathematics, statistics, computer science, Information Technology, econometrics

TOPICS We welcome real-world applications of OR both in developing and developed countries.

SPECIAL EVENTS OR Exhibit, special sessions, tutorials, keynote, plenary, parallel talks? The choice is Yours!
